Dear Cherry

HI! Goys and Ghouls! Welcome to the all-Occult issue #13! Moo-wa-ha-ha! Before we get to your maniacal missives, don't forget to buy the first of many issues of our new companion mag, Cherry's Jubilee, starting this summer and co-published by Cherry Comixxx and Tundra Publishing Ltd.. It's the first new Cherry #1 in ten years! Ask for it by name!

Dear Cherry,

I have been enjoying your delicious adventures since your first issue and am prompted to write. I must confess my dear, that I am in love with another woman. Her name is Mad Maxine She has stomped on my heart and ground it into the dirt I want more!

I also enjoy: Ellie Dee, shots of Mom with come all over her face and page after page of you, sweet thing, getting all the hard dick you can possibly stand.

I guess you could say I give this comic book thumbs up, but that ain't my thumb!

Evil Egg
San Francisco, CA

You ain't the only one who thrilled to the titillating testimony of Mad Maxine back in issue 9! Maybe if we hear from more of you I can roll the letters up in a big wad and pummel the hip hippie Larry Todd into creating another epic adventure of post-apocalypse leather and dominance!

Cherr-Babes,

People love me here at school as I'm the only person around, let alone the only female around who has all your comics and truly grooves on them! Oh yeah, in the first panel of page five of issue 12, I really dig the black dick man with a white hand. Neato genetic programming! Luv ya babes,

SF

From San Francisco
Tee hee yourself!

Okay, you caught us fair and square! Larry Weiz is, in reality, Dr. Shockley, and I will be changing my name to Khan Noonian Singh prior to an extended vacation starting in 1997. Soon, we will breed the perfect Cherry fan, with three hands each, to fully enjoy each issue without folding back the covers!

To the Genius Behind Cherry Poptart:
(Now that's how to get a letter printed!)

I collect many comics, and your series is the most outstanding and unique that I have ever happened upon. I have enjoyed all of the Cherry books and the Cherry story in One Fisted Tales and offer up all of my highest praises.

Since this letter's here, I'd also like to throw in a few questions and ideas:

1) I know that C. Poptart was inspired by some earlier comics, and as I have enjoyed the Cherry series and the One Fisted Tales tale, I was wondering if you could make some recommendations for other comics to look into (between reading Cherry, of course!) and the places where we could find these treasures?

2) The cover of Cherry #12 was fabulous! It had the typically hysterical mixture of situation and dialog, but the colors really set this cover apart from all of the other covers. It was fucking unbelievable! Would it be possible to get a Cherry book (or a really "Graphic Novel") in the future that was fully in color inside and out? It would be a quite remarkable achievement!

3) When can we hope to see the Cherry movie or video (whether it be animated or live)? I hope it's soon! And personally, I think that an animated Cherry flick is the only way to do any justice to Cherry. Let's face it, being Cherry is just too impossible a task to set for a "real person".

4) I agree with T.D.Y.'s letter which was printed in Cherry #12, "If you tie up a girl and don't do anything to her you are wasting space." So to make up for it, why don't you tie some more people up and try again?

5) How about a "user-friendly" Cherry issue? It could be like a "choose your own adventure". You could present a character at the start of the book, and as situations arise throughout the page, we would have to make his/her decisions as to the handling of the situation for the person by deciding at the end of the page which page to turn to next in the book. (Example: The reader's character might be fleeing the Wicked Witch and burst into a room where Ellie's tied up. If you would set Ellie free, turn to page 15. If you would take advantage of Ellie, turn to page 21.) This is just a thought which I find interesting, to do with as you will.

6) Do you have an intern program or anything similar? I would like to help you get more comics out faster if I could. I am currently in college studying English, utterly without any kind of knowledge of how a comic company works, and I can't draw well. But I have loved comics since birth, and I truly want to learn as much as I can, with the hope of finding a niche for myself in the comic book profession. Can you send me any information? It would be most helpful!

7) Why are there so many clothing ads in the comic book?

8) Nice paper doll of Cherry. Can we hope to see more? Maybe also of Ellie and Lola?

9) Are we supposed to write to P.O. Box 11991, Berkeley, CA 94701 or Cherry, P.O. Box 4662, Santa Rosa, CA 94502?

10) And of course, I'd like to see more of Ellie, and to keep seeing Cherry.

! "Keep it up"

Oh, boy! A long letter with questions many people ask and would take too long to respond to individually! Here goes:

1) There are many fine comics deserving of your support, far too many to list right now, but off the top of my head, as far as currently appearing books go, check out Dave Sim's Cerebus, Love and Rockets by Los Bros. Hernandez (call me a ghou, eh Jaime?), anything by Matt Wagner, Joe Matt, Neil Gaiman, Marc Hempel, Alan Moore and Ed Brubaker. If I've offended anybody by leaving them out, tough shit and I'll plug you later! To find a comics store in your area, check the yellow pages under Books-used and rare, or Magazines or if you're lucky, Comic Books. Or else find a copy of Overstreet's Comic Book Price Guide in a book store and look through the many ads there. Happy hunting!

2) We'd love to do color too and are looking into it. Larry Welz colors all the covers himself, and does a swell job.

3) The Hollywood plans of Cherry have been fucked up for awhile due to evil and incompetence not of our making. If anything gets resolved soon, and there are possibilities, I'll let everyone know. Also, there will unfortunately be no Video Press Kit.

4) Yes, master, more bondage soon! In the meantime reread Cherry #2, you flaccid little worm!

5) What a logistical nightmare you propose! Still, if enough people write in about this, we can ignore you all.

6) I'd like to answer this here, even though you also sent me a personal letter on this matter, so I can use the stamps from your SASE for my own mail. Thanks. We can only use interns who live in and around the San Francisco Bay Area, because we do too. It's that personal touch, for you see, a hands-on comic is Cherry. So thanks to local boys Quinn Supplee and Mel Young for their past and future help.

7) Because Sharon Welz makes them and they are really, REALLY sexy for females to wear and for males to spoon on!

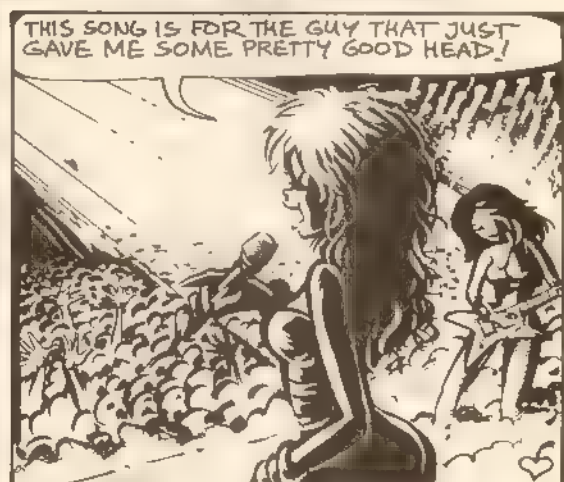

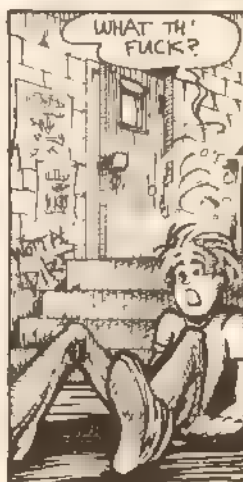

8) More paper dolls by the lovely and talented Leslie Sternbergh in this and future issues!

9) Write to Dan Fogel in Berkeley to submit short scripts or pin-ups or two-or-three page sample stories (no more 20-odd page epics, please!) as well as all official business correspondence. Send fan letters to Larry Welz in Santa Rosa.

10) Yowza, Squire!

Stay Tooned!
